

Pledges for those who want more government spending and higher taxes United States Government

Government expenditure, non-military

My name is _____ and I support the following government program _____. I have done my research and calculated this program costs _____ per year. There are approximately 230 million adults in the United States. This makes the average cost for this program _____. I pledge to donate exactly this much to the IRS. I will recalculate the cost next year and donate that much again.

Signature: _____ Date: _____

Government expenditure, military, not in America's self-interest

My name is _____ and I support the following military intervention _____. I recognize that this military intervention has little to no benefit to America. I anticipate this total effort will cost _____. There are approximately 230 million adults in the United States. This makes the average cost for this intervention to be _____. I pledge to donate exactly this much to the IRS. I have also talked to a military family and explained to them why I want to send their son or daughter into harm's way.

Signature: _____ Date: _____

Ultra-rich person who wants to increase taxes

My name is _____. My net worth is _____. I want fellow rich people to pay more in taxes. I recognize the United States government is in $14 trillion worth of debt as of 2011. I pledge _____ of my own money to The Bureau of Public Debt.

Signature: _____ Date: _____